About | Indian Geomorphology
After the breakup and separation of India, much of the geomorphology of the Indian subcontinent relates to geological, tectonic and climatic events that have taken place during Cenozoic, since the end of Deccan Volcanism (Fig. 1). These events were linked to the northward migration of the Indian Plate through different latitudinal zones, the Himalayan Orogeny and the establishment of the monsoon system over the subcontinent.

"Geomorphological Mapping: Methods and Applications is a practical textbook that is essential reading to students and professional practitioners wishing to embark on a geomorphological project in any discipline. It is the first book of its kind, in that it brings together many topics that are normally dealt with and taught separately.

Geomorphological Mapping, Volume 15 - 1st Edition
Although the study of geomorphology has been around since ancient times, the first official geomorphologic model was proposed between 1884 and 1899 by the American geographer William Morris Davis. His geomorphic cycle model was inspired by theories of uniformitarianism and attempted to theorize the development of various landform features.
