Family obligation values were assessed using 14 items from the Fuligni et al. (1999) family obligation measure reflecting attitudes about providing assistance (e.g., how often should you help take care of your brothers and sisters), respect for family (e.g., how important do you think it is to treat your parents with great respect), and future support (e.g., how important do you think it is to help your parents financially in the future). Items are responded to on a 1 to 5 scale, with higher ...
